CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY OF EDMONTON

Any member of the Concordia University of Edmonton community or the public who believes, on reasonable grounds, that a student has engaged in non-academic misconduct (as defined in the Code of Student Conduct, available online: www.concordia.ab.ca) is encouraged to report the matter to the Vice-President Student Life & Learning as soon as possible after the incident in question.

You may make a complaint even if you were not the target or victim of the alleged non-academic misconduct. Allegations of non-academic misconduct may be resolved informally or through a formal hearing process.

Complainant Contact Information

You may be contacted for further information about your complaint, and may be asked to be a witness if the complaint leads to a formal resolution process. Information related to the investigation and/or resolution of an allegation of non-academic misconduct will only be made available to those persons who have a need to be informed.
