

OUR CANADA: JEWISH- CANADIAN WOMEN WRITERS

MAR 6 2019

12 PM IN ROOM HA342
PRESENTED BY DR. CATHERINE CAUFIELD

Foregrounding the work of Jewish women writers in Canada serves to enhance our understanding of the sociocultural complexity that has developed within the context of the unfolding history of Canada. It is timely work in terms of current reflection, examination, and questioning of the multicultural paradigm that has shaped Canadian identity for at least the past forty years.

This research was supported by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada. Concordia University of Edmonton acknowledges and is grateful for the support of the Government of Canada, through its Research Support Fund.

