Period Poverty Project

In an effort to reduce financial burden, several groups at CUE have partnered to launch the Period Poverty Project. As of the week of October 4th, baskets with free menstruation products will be available in appropriate bathrooms on campus.

Want to support the program?

You can leave free products directly in any basket on campus and soon you'll be able to donate online to the Period Poverty Program at: https://

ILL

The Inquiring Mind Post-Secondary (TIM PS) is an evidence-based program designed to address and promote mental health and reduce the stigma of mental illness in an educational / student setting.

The 3-hour workshop was created with the input of students, faculty and staff, from the University of Calgary, with mental health-related expertise.

The workshop covers three main components: stigma reduction, resiliency skills, and the Mental Health Continuum Model.
